Assessment Level Below Average

The average property assessment level in Monterey County stands at 22.6 percent of market value, compared to the statewide average of 23.9 percent announced recently by the State Board of Equalization.

Noting that all 58 county assessors have declared that they are now assessing at 25 percent of market value, which the law required all counties to do in 1971, Member George R. Reilly explained the seeming difference.

The county assessor is, in fact, assessing at 25 percent of his latest estimates of market value.

But all of his appraisals may not be 1971 values—the county may be reassessing on appraisals made two or three years earlier. In the meantime the property may have increased in value. The Board's figures, however, are based on current appraisals which do consider the recent increases in value.

The assessor does not have the resources and staff to adjust every property value every year. He has to devote his resources to those areas where the value changes have been the greatest since the last appraisal.

To reach his figures, the Board statisticians use a carefully designed technique called "Random Stratified Sampling" in which five to six thousand properties are appraised each year.

County ratios and Board ratios differing by no more than 4 percentage points from the statewide average ratio are considered by the Board to be within an acceptable tolerance zone.

This year's statewide weighted average is 23.9 percent and no county ratio fell outside the tolerance zone of from 19.9 to 27.9 percent. The Board's figures show that four counties have ratios greater than 25 percent. But the Board stressed that these are preliminary ratios, which may be adjusted downward when final ratios are reported in late August.

Significance of the figures is that a county's assessment ratio is the key to a number of programs involving more than $650 million in state school equalization aid, as well as assessment appeals, repayment of school construction funds borrowed from the State, tax rates of intercounty districts and other matters.

State aid is distributed to school districts with relatively low taxable wealth per child. The Board's ratios are used together with a school district's assessed value to compute a district's taxable wealth.

School district repayment of state loans and their debt limits are also established by formulas which involve these ratios.

Post Office Site Unlikely To Change

by Art Tagle

While Mayor Lou Haddad was vacationing in Europe, Seaside's newly-seated city council reopened discussion on a site for the new post office.

The special study session was called to reevaluate the possible sites and other alternatives to the Broadway and Terrace site chosen by the previous city council last January 7.

Serving as chairman in Haddad's absence, Mayor Pro-Tem Joseph Cota told the council that the Post Office Land Acquisition Department was already far along with their plans for the Broadway-Terrace site.

Preparations were so far along, Cota said, that the Army Corps of Engineers, which handles real estate and construction for the Postal Service, were proceeding on the assumption that the new plans were for the Broadway site.

"Any changes now," he added, "would probably delay building for two years or more."

J. Dolan, considered by some to be the new influence in city politics, asked why a change at this time would take so long.

Postmaster Earl Flaws told Dolan that the situation on Broadway and Terrace had already been appraised.

Dolan then asked, "Where do Postal Authorities want the Post Office?"

"They favor the Broadway location," Cota told Dolan.

Two of the new councilmen, Glen Olea and Billie Barton, said they favored a site on Echo Avenue across from Olympia Plaza when they had served as planning commissioners.

Mrs. Barton did state, however, that she didn't "feel so strongly about the Echo site that I want to stop any progress on the Broadway site."

Olea said he would abide by the decision of the council. It was suggested by Dolan that if the site is to be Broadway-Terrace, the council should be given a time schedule by the Postal authorities.

"Let's get them moving," he said, "and off top dead center."

City manager Milton Farrell was directed to try to have an official of the Postal Service present at the next meeting or to have a statement from the postal service of their intentions.

Festival Honoring Robinson Jeffers Is This Weekend

A festival celebrating the life and works of Robinson Jeffers, Carmel poet who captured the wild beauty of the California coast and became the forerunner of the contemporary ecology movement, will be held tomorrow (Friday) and Saturday at Monterey Peninsula College.

The festival will include an intimate look into the work of this prophetic artist by fellow poets, insightful critics and reminiscing townspeople and neighbors from the rugged Big Sur coastline he explored in life and verse.

Poetry readings, talk sessions, films, an exhibit of the works of Jeffers from the collection of Peter N. Bartlett and mapped tours to the scenes of Jeffers' mystic and tortured poems will make up this Third Annual Robinson Jeffers Festival, initiated by Elaine W. Fitzpatrick from the University of Utah who is summer instructor in Philosophy at MPC.

According to Dr. Robert Brophy, who coordinates the festival with Mrs. Fitzpatrick and edits the Robinson Jeffers Newsletter, events will begin at 8 p.m. tomorrow night and continue Saturday at 10:30 a.m. and 8 p.m. in the MPC Lecture Forum.

Festival Tickets are available at MPC Community Services office, Abinante's Music in Monterey, Thunderbird Books by Carmel Valley and Carmel Music.

The landscape and verses, focus of the festival, will be living pages from a book well-known to California conservationists and to millions of college students and poetry lovers — "Not Man Apart". This combines the words of Jeffers and contributions of some of America's best photographers. It is published by the Sierra Club.

Among the participating celebrants is poet William Everson, who, as Brother Antoninus, has written his own haunting examination of the place of modern man in the universe and who claims Jeffers as his own mentor and inspiration. His book, "Robinson Jeffers: Fragments of an Older Fury," is among the many recent critical works in a re-birth of Jeffers appreciation.

Antoninus will read Jeffers' poetry at tomorrow's session. Also featured Friday will be the film "Give your Heart to the Hawks," produced by David Meyers for public television.

Saturday night poetry reading will be followed by another film, "An American Poet: Robinson Jeffers."

The Saturday morning coffee and doughnut session will feature an "Aficionados' Roundtable." This will be a casual sharing of interest, memories, and insights among Jeffers specialists and friends. This will be followed by a map-guided tour of "Jeffers Country."

Scholars coming to the Peninsula to participate in the event include Dr. Arthur Coffin of Washington State University of Southern California at Long Beach, Edward Nickerson of University of Delaware and Dr. David Dougherty of Loyola College in Baltimore.

Dr. Brophy, who is professor of English at California State College at Long Beach, will also participate in the roundtable.

Ad Campaign Underway

The mayors of seven local cities and Monterey County supervisors commended the Monterey Peninsula Advertising Club on their professionally prepared alcoholism education program aimed to free alcoholism of tabu and moral aversion which at present inhibit professional recognition and treatment of the county's number one neglected disease.

The six-month program is for the Monterey Peninsula Council on Alcoholism and is now being aired, viewed and read county-wide through the public service courtesies of ten radio stations, three daily and nine weekly newspapers, four television stations and seven periodicals.

Alcoholism Council President Maj. Gen. Edwin Wright (USA Retired) said the theme of the program is, viewed and read county-wide through the public service courtesies

Alcoholism Council President Maj. Gen. Edwin Wright (USA Retired) said the theme of the program is, "Here's to Your Health — and the Facts", with the presentations in all media conforming to the Alcoholism Council's policy of information and education "neither for nor against drinking."

He added there are 14,370 county residents who have the disease.

Kendall Motor Construction Begins Soon

Construction of the newest facility in Seaside's Monterey Peninsula Auto Center should begin within the next 30 to 45 days, according to Datsun dealer Ken Shaffer.

Shaffer's Kendall Motor Company will open a 1000-square foot sales and service facility in the center. Plans for the building were recently approved by the architectural review board of the Seaside Redevelopment Agency.

There are already two dealerships—Western Volkswagen and Butts Pontiac-Cadillac—in the center. Ground was recently broken for a third—Graham Buick—to build there.

Principal Lincoln-Mercury may be the next auto dealer to move to the auto center. Russell Hoss, executive director of the redevelopment agency, said that the local development corporation, which was organized several months ago by attorney Saul Weingarten, is working with the Small Business Administration to assist Principal in a move to Gateway.

It was through the help of this non-profit organization that Kendall Motors received a loan from the SBA.

State Holds Many Estates

State Controller Houston I. Flournoy has reported that unclaimed funds and abandoned property with a total value of $1,804,052 were received by his office during the fourth quarter (April-June) of Fiscal Year 1970-71 and are being held in safekeeping for the rightful owners.

The total included $270,572 in unclaimed funds from 211 estates and 11,681 items of abandoned property valued at $1,533,480, Flournoy said.

Deadline Is Monday

Monday, August 2, is the deadline date for filing a contribution return and report of disability insurance wages, form DE 7003, for the second quarter of 1971, R. B. Applegate, Auditor in Charge for the State Department of Human Resources Development in Monterey wants to remind employers of agricultural employees and nonprofit or district hospital employees. Penalty and interest will be charged if the report is filed after the deadline, Applegate said.

Meeting For Businessmen Announced

The Seaside Businessman's Association will hold its next regular meeting Tuesday, August 3, at the Fireside Hofbrau on Fremont Boulevard.

Temporary chairman of the organization, Ed Weiner, says, "All businessmen and professional men holding licenses are eligible to come to the luncheon meeting, which will begin at 12:15. They are invited to participate in building and organizing this businessman's group."

"Letters have gone out to all businessmen," Weiner concluded, "but any that did not receive an invitation are welcome to come to the lunch anyway. It is a good opportunity to give a hand and meet the other businessmen in the community."

Law Delays Appointment Of Judge

State Senator Donald L. Grunsky recently said the appointment of a fifth Superior Court Judge for Monterey County will not be made until the end of this year or possibly as late as January 1972.

The new court position is being created in legislation (SB 1319) authored by Senator Grunsky.

Grunsky said, "Although the bill is assured of passage and Monterey County has immediate need for an additional Superior Court Judge, the State Constitution prohibits legislation creating a public office from being enacted as an urgency measure to take effect immediately. The bill cannot take effect until the 61st day after final adjournment of the Legislature."

"I am making this announcement," Grunsky said, "because of the many urgent letters and frantic telephone calls which have been coming into the Governor's and my offices on the erroneous assumption that the appointment of a new judge is momentarily imminent."

"I wish to assure all interested applicants and those supporting particular applicants that there is no urgency and there will be plenty of time to communicate with the Governor before the appointment is made."

Grunsky's bill was approved by the full Senate on June 29.

The new court post is endorsed by the Monterey County Board of Supervisors and the California Judicial Council.

You and I are all children of one faith, for the divers paths of religion are fingers of the loving hand of one Supreme Being, a hand extended to all, offering completeness of spirit to all, eager to receive all". This is a passage from "The Prophet" by Khalil Gibran.

This last weekend my wife, Jean, our daughter, Kathy and I had the opportunity to see the celebration of the Feast of the Lanterns at Lovers Point in Pacific Grove. This pageant, staged annually by the people of that city, is another example of how love, especially love for children has led a public-spirited citizenry to work on a project which brings such joy to so many children. Most of the events aimed to get children to participate. There is a queen contest and fireworks on the beach, sandwiched around a "Pet Parade", in which the children march down the main street displaying their pet dog or cat or whatever.

The reenactment of the Chinese Lantern Fable on the beach at Lovers Point featured the traditional water dragon and the procession of the lighted boats. The actors light the Torii gates, dance and shoot off the fireworks. All this is done to the great joy of the children, young and old, that gather on the rocks and sand of the Point. Thousands gather each year to enjoy this delightful ceremony.

While we watched on this beautiful, windless, warm night, the squeals and shouts of the

SavaworkAids Handicapped

The specialty of the SAVAWORK ENTERPRISES, Monterey County's rehabilitation workshop, is to recycle people.

It utilizes handicapped persons who cannot as yet compete for jobs in private industry. The handicapped can produce and many of them can be trained to become self-sufficient, tax-paying citizens of our Community. It is slow, hard work for many of them, but the goal of economic independence makes it all worthwhile.

The SAVAWORK plant at 134 Abbott Street in Salinas provides the dignity of honest labor and a chance to earn wages commensurate with ability to produce. It also provides encouragement and direction toward that day when they no longer need a workshop.

Over thirty men and women have been employed in "sub-contract" general production, electrical assembly, onion bag retaping, mechanical assembly work and seed tape packaging.

Six SAVAWORK "graduates" have been hired by Monterey County firms and additional placement activities, including vocational counseling, continues.

children each time the dragon blew some smoke from its nostrils or whenever an exceptionally bright or loud firework went off made us realize that even though the grown-ups were enjoying the feat, it really was a night for the children. It reinforced the belief that the love of children is universal. And it made the words of Gibran - "You and I are all children of one faith" - more meaningful.

I missed the dedication of the new playground in Marina last Sunday, but I understand it was a resounding success. Here again is an example of the citizens of a community doing something for the children. Those groups who worked together to raise over $3,000 for the purchase of playground equipment were honored with Certificates of Appreciation. These were the Grange, Women's League, Council of Marina Civic, Religious, Service and Social Organizations, The Girl Scouts, American Legion Post 694 and The Kiwanis Club. Also honored at the dedication were Sprouse Reitz, Marina Auto Movie, Betty's Beauty Salon, C and J Appliance and the Marina Civic Association which includes many individuals. The veterans of Foreign Wars Post 811 donated a flag pole, while free hot dogs and soft drinks were served by the Marina Civic Association. Everybody had a good time at the Community Center on Hillcrest Avenue in Marina.

Last week, the Seaside Department of Recreation began their program with a big affair.

All this above activity started me thinking about how much we are doing for and with children. There is the Little League, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Campfire Girls and many other organizations that we spend much time and money on. All of the schools, playgrounds and libraries that we build and operate, as well as the many other activities that I have mentioned, are all aimed at providing a happy and better life for our children.

Since time immemorial we have had festivals for children, but we didn't have all of the organizations that are now involved in the entertainment of children. It made me stop and think that maybe a large number of us are just too busy making a living and hurrying around our busy world to pay the proper attention to our children where it counts the most - in the home.

I know that in this country, especially, we have turned the attention that we should be giving our children, personally, over to the monster, television, or the radio. Children have turned to these because they can't get our personal attention. Even those parents who are "devoted" to their children don't give half of the time and attention that a mother and father is some underdeveloped country does. Maybe our problem is that we are "over-developed" to the point that we don't have time any more to enjoy our children and all of the other simple joys of life.

Don't you think that maybe it is about time that we slowed down a little and enjoyed ourselves - simply.

Fishing Is Good

Our friend, Bill, skipper of the "Miss Monterey" told THE POST that the fishing lately has been great. There are lots of fish, a little fog and very calm waters.

Last week "Miss Monterey" a group from "Foster Farms" in the San Joaquin Valley to Point Sur. Everybody in the group got fish. The two biggest were a couple a Ling Cod, that weighed in at 25 and 25-1/2 pounds. Skipper Bill said that he could hardly tell them apart to award the first prize.

Boats leave every morning at 7:30 from Fisherman's Wharf. Reservations must be confirmed by 7 a.m.

If you want a good fishing trip any day in the week, just call Bill at 372-0577. He'll guarantee you fish every time.

As I See It

By Mel Vercoe

I feel just terrible about the John Birchers. So many bad things have happened to them recently that some consolation relief organization should be established to give them comfort. The State of California, much to the distress of population control opponents, recently changed the law so that little children in schools could learn something about sex besides what they learned from their little brethren out behind the barn.

Shortly before that one of America's most righteous Joan Baez and hippie critics, "Little Abner" cartoonist Al Capp, turns out to be a near champion sex degenerate in no uncertain terms.

Then our right-wing President, Richard Milhaus Nixon of all people, shook up all of us properly brought up communist fearers by making friendly gestures toward China and one of his major financial backers said in a TV interview a few days ago that he was throwing away the medal he had got from Mr. Nixon. He added that Mr. Nixon was deceitful, among other things.

And now, oh my goodness, it's so awful I hate to think about it, a young woman in trouble with an unwanted pregnancy can under a new court ruling get herself out of trouble without wading through a mile of oppressive red tape trying to convince a medical review board that her plight was serious. The new court ruling declared the whole idea of abortion being a criminal matter as very unconstitutional - a ruling that came a little late for several hundred thousand women and girls who died getting abortions from unskilled and unclean quack abortionists. Anyway, there went another motherhood and apple pie bastion of our democracy.

It is interesting that the abortion laws were enacted about the year 1880, 40 years before women were allowed to vote. We just have to wonder if such laws would have been passed if women and not men had been doing the voting or for that matter if men had been bearing half the children by some biological shortcut.

What on earth will come next? Will poor old J. Edgar Hoover be forcibly retired before reaching the age of 100? Will Chiang Kai Shek go on the welfare rolls? Will marijuana be legalized so kids won't find it such an exciting pastime trying to dodge the fuzz? Will the electoral college system be abolished so our people can vote for our President.

Bob Wood Reports

I am sure most of you have read or have heard through the news media that after Congress approved voting in the national elections for 18 to 21 year-olds, three-fourths of the states have approved Amendment 26 of the United States Constitution which allows these young people to vote in state and local elections as well as federal elections.

It's interesting to note that the U. S. Bureau of Census states that there will be approximately 11 million new voters in this age bracket throughout the nation and it's also interesting to note that between the age bracket of 21 and 25 there is another 14 million eligible young voters.

Of the potential 11 million new young voters between the ages of 18 to 21 about one-half of these young people are married. One-half are receiving some form of higher education. About 3 million are gainfully employed in full time work and approximately 1.4 million are in the armed services.

Naturally, since both political parties are hoping for new supporters, these new voters may make decisive differences in forthcoming elections.

It is somewhat interesting to note that the polls indicate that many of the collegians prefer neither party, but prefer to remain independent and vote for the man or the issue. However, those that did express an interest in one party or the other, the Democratic party proved to be the favorite with this younger group.

Let's remember, regardless of our age bracket, that change and experiment are the foods on which a democracy thrives. The younger generation's insight into our country's needs and problems arising from a swiftly changing world should be an exceptional contribution.

However, let's also remember in this same changing world that it is our responsibility as parents to caution our younger generation.

Grooving Around the Peninsula
with BETTY MANN

Hi there, fellow Peninsulans!

I'm back after an absence that was marred by the tragic death of my oldest sister. Her life was cut short by a cerebral hemorrhage of the brain at the young age of 40 years old. It just goes to show that we can be well one day and treading up the path to the unknown the next.

After receiving the tragic news that my sister was seriously ill, I immediately flew to Chicago, where she lived. I stayed by her bedside while she was in a coma, from which she never recovered.

While there, I was shocked to see the conditions that the inhabitants of Chicago live with. At the entrance to the hospital there were police guarding the parking lot, police on guard in the waiting room and police guarding the entrance to the patients wards. A visitor must receive a special pass and identify himself before he can visit a patient. I asked one of the policemen why there were so many guards and he explained that a vast number of doctors offices and pharmacies were also guarded by special policemen. This is because of the terrible crime element that exists in Chicago.

The day before I returned to the peninsula, I decided to have my hair cut at one of the leading beauty shops in Chi-town. As I approached the door of this leading beauty shop, I found that I had to ring the buzzer and identify myself before being admitted. "Wow!" I said to the beauty operator, "you mean you have to keep your doors locked too." She said that it was either that or get robbed frequently! Believe me I was one chick, who was sad to leave Chicago, because my family lives there, but was very happy that I live in an area that is not a police state and where there is at least freedom of movement.

When I returned to the Peninsula, I found that many events had taken place. The recount was final and many persons were upset about the outcome. I think that any fair-minded citizen should have been upset.

The swearing-in of the new council was another disappointing scene. I cannot conceive that a majority vote shall rule in any election, but a recall election is somehow different. Everyone knows that the majority of the people cast more votes for the three fallen candidates. But, because of an entangling, outrageous law, three persons who received less votes than the incumbents are allowed to rule?

It was very disappointing to the blacks who attended the last council meeting to hear Stephen Ross make the motion to seat the new council. Couldn't Haddad or the city Attorney perform this duty, Steve? The blacks were appalled that Steve and Oliver Murray voted against Carey and McG Rath when they agreed to certify the election results, even though a court appearance was scheduled for the next day on the recall question.

Meanwhile, outside the city hall, blacks were protesting that Steve Ross had sold out his brother (Mrs. Carey) in favor of the "Ol Massa" (Haddad)! The crowd said that they were not satisfied with the recall outcome and have promised to focus more attention on the next election in April. They said they will select and work for a more desirable Mayor and council. One person suggested that maybe the complacent citizens in Seaside need a little stimulation for the next election. He suggested bringing in Muhammad Ali or Huey Newton or Jessie Jackson to get the black people together as a voting bloc.

I've found it very amusing that brother Haddad, before he left, overlooked the already vice-mayor, Steve Ross, to appoint Joe Cota as vice-mayor, while he is gone. (A hint to Steve-see what the "old boy" thinks of you as the senior councilman on the council. Why would he go over your head and appoint a new council member after appointing you as vice mayor earlier? Steve the people have been trying to tell you about the system and now they hope you can open your eyes!) An anonymous telephone caller asked me what will happen to the service center now that the new council wishes to sell it? Where will the service center, of which Steve Ross is director, go? Isn't this another slap at Ross (this time by the new council members).

It has also been said that the Pit will be sold. News from the grapevine is that the brothers down there are chanting "Burn, Baby, Burn."

Something more pleasant about town is the upcoming Jazz Festival. Single tickets will go sale on August 1. If you want a good seat for the Saturday afternoon blues session, you better get down to the festival office pronto! I hear "Sassy Sarah Vaughn" and "Cool Carmen McCrae" will do their thing this year along with Oscar Peterson. Pearl Bailey's husband and Louie Bellson's bands. WOWEE!!! A rocking good time is promised. Right on!

Until next week.
Betty.

THE PHONE BOOTH

A phone left off the hook—either by accident or on purpose—can prevent urgent calls from reaching you. Getting a busy signal when you're trying to call someone can be annoying at the best of times, but the situation could be serious when someone's trying to reach you in an emergency. Checking your phone now and then to make sure it's hung up properly is good insurance against losing incoming calls.

EMERGENCY and business telephone numbers for the City of Seaside will change JULY 24. The new number for the FIRE DEPARTMENT is 394-6511. POLICE DEPARTMENT, 394-6811. The City Hall will also have a new number, 394-8531.
At the same time the prefix "899" will be initiated for some 800 Seaside customers.
Make note of the new numbers so that this transition will be smooth.

I'd just like to remind you that dialing direct is the fast way to make a long distance phone call. And all you have to do to dial direct is dial the Area Code (if it's different from your own) plus the phone number of the person you're calling. Here in Seaside don't forget to dial "1" before dialing the Area Code. To find Area Codes for the entire United States, just check the front pages of your phone book.

Public Health Head Warns That Many Children's Car Seats May Not Prove Safe

Each year in the United States, about one thousand children under the age of four are killed as passengers in automobiles, with many more disabled.

As traffic accidents are the leading cause of death among young children, parents should know that special car safety is needed to protect them.

In a crash, the inside of a car is safer than outside. Seat belts provide a safety factor of at least keeping passengers inside a car, for many studies show that a person restrained at the time of impact stands a much better chance of survival and less severe injuries.

For children however, seat belts may not be appropriate. A child's size may make it impossible to adjust belts properly across his hips.

He can slide under a belt, causing it to be around his neck or abdomen -- a dangerous condition in the event of sudden stops.

A child on his mother's lap is also unsafe if an accident occurs, for the child can be crushed between the mother and the inside of a car or thrown from her arms.

Seat belts should not be used to restrain both mother and child, since the weight of an adult pressing across the child from behind could cause serious injuries.

Parents of a young child should obtain a special car seat that meets the April 1, 1971, federal motor vehicle safety standards. A number of children's seats, however, which are advertised as safety devices, are not satisfactory restraints, according to Dr. Francis J. Curry, director of the Department of Public Health of the City and County of San Francisco, who says that the features to look for in a child's car seat include:

*A head restraint to prevent whiplash type neck injuries.

*A harness that restrains a child over several parts of the body, such as shoulders and lap.

*A means of securely attaching a seat to the car.

The weight of the child, he says, should determine the type of safety restraint.

For infants up to twelve pounds there are sturdy car beds available. When the child is large enough, over 50 pounds, he can use a standard lap belt. Finally, because of the various types of seats and harnesses available, parents must be sure they know how to properly use the types they buy for maximum safety, says Dr. Curry.

Whatever method is used, parents are warned to make certain that their children are properly restrained and with all car doors locked.

Parents are reminded that it takes only seconds to secure their children safely in an automobile.

While no device can guarantee one hundred percent protection, children who are safely secured to the car structure stand the best chance of surviving collision with minimal injury.

Petris Optimistic On Smog Curb Bill

State Senator Nicholas C. Petris (D, Alameda County) is optimistic that his bill to ban from California highways new cars which produce any smog whatsoever, beginning in 1975, has a chance to reach Governor Ronald Reagan's desk.

For the third straight year, the Senate has now passed such a bill, but the last two died in the Assembly Transportation Committee. This time, following passage of the bill by a vote of 21-11 in the Senate, Petris said the chances of the bill being approved by the Assembly are looking up tremendously.

"There is a much better chance than before to go all the way," he says.

Petris has two reasons for optimism, he says.

"A large number of Los Angeles assemblymen know that smog is getting worse, not better, I will supply them with medical evidence of the health problem--evidence the automobile industry has never refuted."

"The new chairman of the Assembly Transportation Committee voted for his bill both times before when it was killed by the committee."

The measure now goes to the Assembly.

Two years ago, Petris' bill would have banned entirely all cars with internal combustion engines.

Last year, his bill was identical to this year's, banning as of January 1, 1975, any new car "which discharges any pollutant into the atmosphere."

Automobiles To Be Shown

San Francisco's historic Presidio will again be the site of the annual Golden Gate Concours d'Elegance, with the date for the event set for Sunday, August 29.

The massive display of antique, vintage, classic, competition and sports cars will be shown on the Army post's athletic field opposite the Officers' Club, officials said, with antique and experimental aircraft again exhibited on nearby Crissy Field, aviation operations center for the Sixth Army.

The fifth annual show will be sanctioned by the Sports Car Club of America, with proceeds going to charitable programs to aid retarded children, the City of Hope and the Presidio Women's Club Welfare Fund.

More than 125 automobiles and as many as 75 aircraft are expected to be on view for the day-long Concours, with plans including a point-to-point fly-in to Crissy Field for the old-time planes.

The air field will be closed to normal operations during the Concours.

Committees are now involved in various aspects of planning for the event, a highlight for antique automobile and aircraft buffs of the bay area.

Ralph Nader Plans To Focus On AAA

Consumer advocate Ralph Nader recently opened an investigation of the American Automobile Association (AAA) which he contends supports the "auto industry's disdain" for pollution and car safety measures.

A group of "Nader's Raiders," as his assistants are called, plans to spend the summer investigating AAA, Nader said.

He said that complaints from some of AAA's 13 million members indicated "need for a deeper inquiry into the ways in which these organizations function."

His "Raiders" will try to determine who controls AAA policies, what influence its members have on the leadership, and "the potential of the auto clubs to make major contributions toward the health and safety of auto users," according to Nader.

They intend also to make recommendations on how to develop such clubs into effective consumer representatives.

Regulation Is Illegal,

The Ford Motor Company has announced its opinion that proposed federal regulations concerning the installation of air-bags and other protective systems in automobiles are illegal.

The regulations, says Ford, were drafted on the basis of data not made available to auto manufacturers. This is the basis of the company's claim that the regulations are invalid.

Before adopting such new regulations, says the company, the federal government must consider the results of research conducted by the auto companies, which indicates a possibility that such restraints as the proposed air-bag might injure the hearing of users, catapult children out of their seats in cars, and cause other harm to passengers.

First-Aid Kit In Family Auto Can Be Lifesaver

Now is the time to check the first-aid kit kept in the family auto, for more accidents happen in the summer than in any other season of the year. A properly equipped kit, with fresh supplies which are kept replenished after use, is a very practical aid in relieving many minor injuries and ailments. It may even be life-saving before medical help arrives.

The best time to provide the home or auto first-aid kit is before it is needed. The following first-aid supplies are suggested:

1. Sterile gauze pads
2. Sterile gauze bandages
3. Adhesive tape
4. Adhesive dressings
5. Absorbent cotton-sterile
6. Triangular bandage
7. A mild antiseptic
8. Burn ointment or lotion
9. Syrup of ipecac
10. Petroleum jelly
11. Calamine lotion
12. Aromatic spirits of ammonia
13. Tweezers
14. Scissors with rounded ends
15. Clinical thermometer
16. Flashlight

For autos, the American National Red Cross suggests a specially designed compact unit with standardized first-aid materials fitted into a case, like blocks. The packet is readily stored and the supplies do not become easily disarranged. Each packet is clearly labeled and instructions for use are included.

Jam Session To Highlight Jazz Festival

"A Tribute To Jazz at The Philharmonic", the classic jazz format of the 40's and 50's, a free-blowing jam session with major performers, will be the theme of the Sunday evening, September 19 concert of the Fourteenth Annual Monterey Jazz Festival.

The special concert will feature jazz artists who played with JATP in years past - Oscar Peterson, piano; Louis Bellson, drums; Ray Brown, bass; Clark Terry, trumpet; Benny Carter, alto saxophone; Zoot Sims and Eddie "Lockjaw" Davis, tenor saxophones and Bill Harris, trombone.

The Oscar Peterson Trio will perform and jazz vocalist Sarah Vaughan will appear during the concert as a special guest.

On had for the revival will be JATP founder, Norman Granz, famed jazz impresario, who discontinued the legendary jazz concerts in 1957 when he moved to Europe.

Granz revived the format in 1967 for a last nostalgic tour around the country.

Jimmy Lyons, founder and general manager of the Monterey Jazz Festival, said he persuaded Granz to come to Monterey this year to be honored as the "non-jazz performer" who has done the most to raise the jazz musician to a place of honor and respect and to encourage the music as high art.

The idea of honoring Granz at JATP grew out of conversations between Lyons and John Lewis, leader and pianist for the Modern Jazz Quartet who also serves as musical director for the Festival.

"The Festival," Lyons said, "besides honoring Granz with the special JATP performance will also donate a $1000 Norman Granz scholarship each year to an outstanding jazz student for further study."

Jazz At The Philharmonic started at Philharmonic Auditorium in Los Angeles in 1943. It was a pioneering venture designed to bring eminent jazz soloists together in a musical format that would allow them the ultimate opportunity for individual creativity.

Each year Granz receives hundreds of letters from fans asking for a return of the traveling super jam sessions.

"But," Branz explains, "the sheer logistics of organizing a tour of superstars in the face of individual commitments is too difficult. It is too much of a production."

The revival of the format on stage at Monterey will give the Festival audience a chance to experience the excitement of these world-famed concerts.

The Monterey Jazz Festival is scheduled for September 17, 18 and 19. It will consist of five concerts-Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings and Saturday and Sunday afternoons.

It will be held in the 7000-seat outdoor arena on the Monterey Fairgrounds.
